Profile

Marty is a skilled digital colourist and online editor with over 7 years professional experience in post-production. Working both as staff and freelance, he began his career as an editor working for a New Zealand broadcaster before moving into online work. He now focuses mainly on colour grading which is where he excels. He interprets briefs amazingly well and always manages to portray the mood using his creative grading skills. Marty has a passion for new technology and kit and is always very good at troubleshooting. He is well versed in collaborating with corporate & creative clients - his work has included TV commercials (several of which are Promax award winning), current affairs & reality TV, short and feature films. In addition to all of this, he is very easy to work with creating a relaxed environment for clients in amongst often chaotic post-production schedules!
