David Abramsky

Avid Offline/Premiere Editor

Profile

David's real passion lies in comedy. He loves to collaborate with the director and is a good listener, passionate about understanding the director's vision. He is very calm in the edit and his attitude fosters trust and confidence which is reinforced by his technical knowledge and competence.

David can be quick when needed and whip things into shape for a review or, when the schedule allows, take time to really dig into the good stuff and pick through hours of footage to get the real gems out.

David has experience with scripted comedy and animation.
