Thom Humphreys

Avid & Adobe Premiere Editor

Profile

Thom is a brilliant short form editor who is transitioning into long form. His experience ranges from music videos to branded content, TVCs and short form documentary and recently, long form documentary. Thom is a natural storyteller, capable of grasping very complex subjects, identifying threads and quirks, and piecing them together to make compelling content. He is logical, with a skillful brain that allows him to think outside the box; he's also creative, passionate and loves collaborating with directors to bring the best out of the footage, with a little added visual flair.

Credit List

Long Form

"Shark Queens" 1 x 44min. Natural History documentary. Selected as one of the Top 3 Shark Week documentaries in 2022. From great white sharks in South Africa to tiger sharks in the Maldives, scientists look to uncover if female sharks are the rulers of the ocean.

Dir. Jack Wylson

The Big Sky for Nat Geo

Short Form Documentaries

"The Future of Robotics" 1 x 20min. This documentary looks at robots in the future of work. In the next few years we're going to start seeing robots that make decisions entirely on their own - fully autonomous robots. Many fear that these kinds of robots will breed dangerous results: can we trust a robot that makes all decisions for us? Or should humans and robots share the control?

Dir: Bruno Chiecco

The Big Sky for Wired UK

"Huawei x Volucap" 1 x 7min. Branded Documentary. Volumetric capture is an emerging form of video technology that delivers an experience that is so real, it feels like the viewer is part of it. Among the leaders in this emerging art is Volucap, a German startup that is pushing the limits of what is feasible. The firm's main customer is currently the film industry, with Matrix Resurrections one of the films in which Volucap's technology was used.

Dir: Anatole Sloan

Huawei

"Huawei - Turkish Earthquake" Branded Documentary. A beautifully shot and emotional film that gives a practical insight into the team that resuscitated Turkey's ailing mobile network in the aftermath of this disaster.
